FINAL WARNING

By JAMES BURTON & VICKY LANE
star@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW-based bus and coach operator has been forced to suspend services for seven days for serious breaches of its licence.

East of England deputy traffic commissioner Miles Dorrington said SM Coaches, which operates six routes in the town, had "consistently failed to operate its vehicles in a fit and roadworthy manner for a long period of time".

Mr Dorrington, who chaired a public inquiry in September, said in his 20-page report that the suspension was designed to act as a "short, sharp and sobering shock and to give the operator the opportunity to reflect upon its failings."

SM Coaches, of Burnt Mill, first landed in hot water with the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency in 2007 for using an unlicensed bus.

In November 2009 VOSA inspectors found there had been a "significant failure" in the company's maintenance system. This was deemed "unsatisfactory" during a follow-up visit.

This year VOSA finally called a public inquiry after the company failed to notify it of five convictions for not displaying operator licence identity discs.

The hearing found SM Coaches had a poor first-time MOT pass rate for its vehicles, having presented one "clearly

Coach firm ordered to suspend services for seven days for serious breaches of licence in a road safety critical condition".

A VOSA inspector told the panel there had been multiple failures that were serious in nature. On one occasion, eight out of 10 nuts on a wheel were found to be loose.

Company director Philip Knight was also criticised for failing to report five convictions for not displaying the identity discs and for making unsubstantiated allegations against a VOSA vehicle examiner.

Although Mr Dorrington decided not to strip the company of its licence, he warned its reputation had been "severely tarnished" and ordered an unannounced follow-up inspection within the next 10 months.

He also refused a request to increase the company's fleet from 16 buses to 24. "The operator failed in a serious and prolonged manner to ensure maintenance compliance, and road safety had been placed at risk on occasions," he said.

"It goes without saying that this is the very last chance that this operator will be given."

Councillor Russell Perrin, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise at Harlow Council, said it welcomed the deputy traffic commissioner's report.

"This ruling follows what were clearly unacceptable lapses by this operator on safety and maintenance," he said. "Harlow residents should rightly expect a high quality bus service and on this occasion they were badly let down."

"We welcome the pledge to keep checking the safety and maintenance of SM Coaches."

He added that last night (Wednesday) the council held a public meeting on bus issues and it would continue to ensure all operators were made aware of issues raised by passengers.

The Star approached SM Coaches for a comment but had not received a response by the time of going to press.

Wait's nearly over the Lottery award hopefuls

THE nail-biting moment when a Harlow performing arts charity finally finds out if it has won a National Lottery award will be televised live on Saturday.

Razed Roof, an inclusive drama group for people with and without learning difficulties, is the only organisation in Essex to have made it through to the finals of the national competition which celebrates the achievements of the UK's favourite Lottery-funded projects.

The group was first shortlisted in June for its Inclusion Through Practise project which used a £10,000 Lottery grant to help people with severe learning difficulties put on a specially adapted production of Billy Elliot at

The Playhouse.

A short film about Razed Roof's work will be featured during Saturday's show which starts at 9.30pm on BBC1. Group chairman Professor Peter Lines, artistic director Annette Lidster and members Emma Hutchin and Clifford Ellis are attending the event.

The rest of the group will be watching the results together at a special party at The Playhouse.

"We have been overwhelmed by the enthusiastic support we have received during the public voting, not only from our local community in Harlow but also from friends and supporters all over the country," said Annette.

"Every member of the group has been canvassing with a passion and we have enjoyed every moment of sharing our achievements with others.

"Given all the amazing projects being supported by the National Lottery, it is a privilege to have got through to the final of the awards."

She added: "It is thanks to the Lottery funding that our project has happened and it would be the icing on the cake for our staff, volunteers and supporters to receive national recognition for the positive impact they make."

The winning project will be presented with an award and a £2,000 cash prize by show host Myleen Klass.

Cannabis plants seized by police

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

POLICE arrested a man during an early morning raid on a cannabis farm in Harlow on Sunday.

Officers executing a search warrant forced their way into the house in Bush Fair and discovered around 50 plants and equipment suggestive of drugs production.

According to neighbours, it took until lunchtime to clear the premises of the plants and equipment found.

A neighbour told the Star: "We were woken at 6.30am to the sounds of banging which turned out to be the police forcing their way into the house."

"I later went out to see what was going on and all these men were coming and going from the house with UV lights, sprinkler equipment, gardening stuff and tons and tons of weed. I have never seen so much in my life."

"I had reported a strong smell of weed to the council in the summer but I never thought it would be anything like this. It is just unbelievable."

Sergeant Kevin Gaye of the Western Tactical Team said: "I want to reinforce our message that we will continue to investigate people believed to be involved in drugs as this illegal activity won't be tolerated or ignored."

"We hope to reassure our residents that any concerns around crime in an area will be investigated and acted on where necessary to ensure people's day to day lives remain unaffected."

A 49-year-old was arrested and charged with being concerned with the production of a controlled drug and obstructing electricity without authority.

He appeared at Harlow Court on Monday and was remanded in custody until November 7.

Salon pair's change of style is a good hair day for cancer charity

TWO members of staff at a Harlow hair salon are sporting some extreme styles after undergoing makeovers for charity.

Senior stylist Jayne Perrin (28) and junior Gemma Bratley (18) at J&P Hairdressers in Broad Walk both agreed to a new look to raise money for Cancer Research, with Jayne going for a full head shave and Gemma dying her locks from their usual intense blonde to red.

The salon, which ran the fundraising initiative as part of the build-up to their first anniversary celebrations this month, have also been donating £1 to the charity box every time a customer has their nails painted pink.

"Both the girls are great for agreeing to have the makeovers and really suit their new looks," said salon owner Martine Perrin.

"Our customers have been extremely generous and we hope to have raised around £350 for Cancer Research when we finish the collections this weekend, which is a really nice way to finish off a very successful first year."

Leaking truck battery sparks chemical alert

FIREFIGHTERS were called to deal with a chemical incident in Harlow on Monday morning after a forklift truck collided with two heavy duty truck batteries on charge, causing one to explode.

Crews from Harlow, Old Harlow, Waltham Abbey and two from Loughton were sent to Sims Recycling on the River Way industrial estate.

When they arrived they found one of the batteries was leaking and two people had suffered injuries.

Crews safely dealt with the incident by 11.49am and the casualties were placed in the care of the ambulance service.

I had my colon removed to reduce risk of cancer

A FATHER-of-six suffering from a serious hereditary bowel condition that also affects four of his children is organising a fundraising event in aid of a support group for those with the disease.

Jason Brace (41) is hosting a buffet and family disco at Harlow Football Club to help support other sufferers of familial adenomatous polyposis (FAP).

Jason first discovered he had the disease at the age of 17 after his own father was also diagnosed, resulting in him having his colon removed to reduce the risk of getting cancer.

"I didn't have any symptoms when I was first diagnosed," said Jason, who lives in Pennymead, Harlow. "Even my dad only had flu-like symptoms but it quickly became much more serious."

"He immediately had to have his rectum and colon removed and I had to have my colon removed, as will all my children when they reach 16."

FAP, which affects one in 10,000 people, is caused by a mutation in the gene, characterised by the development of thousands of polyps in the colon.

Although each polyp has a low risk of turning cancerous, the patient has so many that colon

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

cancer is almost inevitable by the age of 50 unless the colon is removed

"I try to take the condition with a pinch of salt," said Jason. "It is a pain having to have regular check-ups but I am alive and well so I keep positive."

With FAP affecting so many members of his family, Jason decided to become involved with Polypeople, a support group for those affected by the disease. He hopes the charity night will help bring in some much-needed funds for the organisation.

"We are only a small charity but aim to support those with polyposis, help fund research into the condition and also raise more awareness about it," he said.

"The buffet and disco night is the first big event I have ever organised but I am confident that everyone will have a really good time whilst raising money for a great cause."

The charity night takes place on Saturday, November 12, starting at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £10 per adult with children free.

For more information or to purchase tickets, call Jason on 07886177561. For more information about Polypeople, visit www.polypeople.net.

Black-and-white ball to raise funds for ultrasound scanner

RESIDENTS are being encouraged to don their finest for a black and white masquerade charity ball and auction funding life-saving equipment for Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Following the success of the event last year, the black tie evening is being repeated to help towards the £30,000 fundraising target needed to buy an ECHO scanner for the Harlow hospital's intensive care unit.

The ultrasound device is used by medics to scan a patient's vital organs at their bedside so that life-saving treatment can be administered more quickly.

"It will also be used for training purposes and generally just help the hospital to be able to deliver a more effective service."

The ball, which is taking place at the Manor of Groves Hotel at High Wych, will feature a live band, an auction, a raffle and various games taking place throughout the evening.

"Last year's ball was absolutely fantastic," said Claire. "The band, who we are having again this year, had everyone up and dancing and we all had a brilliant night."

"We expect this year to be even better and have already sold over half the tickets. With heaps of games and brilliant raffle and auction prizes it really will be a lot of fun."

The black and white masquerade takes place on Saturday, November 12 from 7pm-1am. Tickets cost £60 and include a four-course meal and half a bottle of wine.

"We also have games and craftwork at our meetings and only charge £1.50 subscription which includes a drink and biscuits at the break."

Charity shop needs help

PEOPLE with some spare time on their hands are being encouraged to help out at a charity shop supporting people with complex learning difficulties and epilepsy.

The St Elizabeth's shop at Staple Tye, Harlow, needs more volunteers to help it raise money for the Much Hadham-based support centre.

"Anyone who is aged over 16 and can spare anything from one hour to full-time would be warmly welcomed," said manager Sarah Patterson. "There are all sorts of varied jobs to do that would suit all ages and abilities and it is a great way for people to make new friends, learn some new skills, do something worthwhile and have a laugh in their spare time."

She added: "I would also like to put out a reminder that we are always looking for quality furniture and clothes donations and really appreciate all the support we receive."

To offer your services, contact Sarah on (01279) 424651 or pop into the shop.

Spa owners hit by 'fish scare' stories

HERE WE TOE: Spa owners Cliff and Lesley Williamson with, centre, daughter Kelly (photo: HAR0779756)

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE furious owners of a Harlow foot spa claim they are suffering from the backlash of reports in the national press that trendy fish pedicures could be responsible for spreading diseases such as hepatitis C and Aids.

Husband and wife Cliff and Lesley Williamson, who run Tootsies Foot Spa in Staple Tye, say that since the stories appeared they have seen a significant decline in customers.

Under the headline "Fish foot spa virus bombshell", The Sun ran a front page story which claimed a report by the Health Protection Agency stated there were risks associated with the treatment.

The Williamsons, who spent more than £40,000 setting up the fish spa earlier this year, blamed "sensationalist" headlines for the drop in trade which they say could ruin their business.

"It is quite disgusting that a paper can get away with printing such ludicrous accusations and scaremongering the public on so little facts," said Mr Williamson, of Red Willow.

"I have researched and researched into this and have not found one case of someone catching AIDs from having a fish pedicure.

"If for a second me or Lesley thought that this were true then quite simply we would not be running this business, let alone using the facility every day! It just isn't the case at all and extremely unfair for people like us who have to deal with the consequences of such sensational reporting."

The treatment involves customers putting their feet or hands into tanks containing tiny Garra rufa fish which feed off dead skin cells. It is a natural therapy that has been around for thousands of years and has recently become popular on the high street.

In the HPA report experts said they discovered infections could be transmitted from fish to person through contact with contaminated water, although it described the risks as "extremely low".

Mr Williamson said: "The fact is that if all the correct procedures are carried out and the tanks are kept to the right hygiene standards then there is no risk of contracting any infection, let alone HIV or hepatitis.

"Our tanks are sterilised up to 10 times an hour and we submit all customers to a thorough check before allowing them to use the tanks. Anyone with open cuts or abrasions would not be allowed contact with the water."

He added: "Anyone who has used the treatment before has absolutely loved it and have never reported any problems afterwards.

"We just hope people will ignore these absurd accusations and come down, check out our facilities for themselves and talk to us if they have any concerns to get the real facts."

Open verdict on man killed in car park fall

A CORONER has recorded an open verdict at the inquest of a man who fell to his death from the top of a car park in Harlow town centre.

Richard Duckworth (35), of Wedhey, Harlow, died from multiple fractures and internal injuries which he suffered in the fall from the Terminus Street multi-storey in January 2009. Chelmsford Coroners Court was told on Friday.

At the time of his death Mr Duckworth was under the care of the North Essex Partnership Foundation Trust Mental Health at Aylmer House in Harlow. However, the inquest was told that two days before the fall he had failed to turn up for an appointment.

Coroner's officer Simon Oakley said there were no suspicious circumstances surrounding the case, adding: "He may have been under the influence of cannabis at the time and a psychotic drug at therapeutic level was also in his system."

Recording an open verdict, coroner Michelle Brown said there was insufficient evidence to show Mr Duckworth intended to take his own life.

Halfon's fuel tax petition secures Commons debate

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has won his campaign for a Parliamentary debate on fuel tax after more than 100,000 people signed his e-petition organised with FairFuel UK.

Mr Halfon was told this week the go-ahead had been given for a three-hour debate in the main chamber of the House of Commons. It is scheduled to take place on Tuesday, November 15.

The e-petition, which was tabled by Mr Halfon, was one of the first to attract in excess of the 100,000 signatures needed to trigger a debate in the chamber.

"The rising cost of fuel is a major issue which affects everyone," he told the Star. "I am delighted that the petition received such marvellous support in such a short time."

He added: "Figures from the RAC show that the average motorist in Harlow is getting fleeced for £1,700 a year just to fill up the family car. This is one tenth of the average local salary."

"The case for cheaper petrol is not just popular; it is good economics, too. Experts at the LSE have published research showing that our soaring petrol prices are contributing to UK unemployment."

Ludicrous response to my mum's humiliation

SIR, How utterly and absolutely ludicrous! I refer, of course, to the One Stop Shop's contribution to your report about my mother being refused a bottle of whisky when in their store at The Stow (Star, October 27).

In this case the issue was also one of age discrimination. My mother had and presented ID as your photos confirm.

When I went in to complain about the humiliation a 92-year-old would suffer, the person I spoke to confirmed that the required ID would include a bus pass. After all, you do not become eligible until after your 60th birthday and it has a photograph – more than adequate proof that the holder is beyond the permitted age to purchase alcohol.

This issue is just plain and simple bad management and even worse customer relations.

The One Stop Shop lost its licence to sell alcohol because of the failure of a number of test purchases.

Diane, 92, is asked for proof of age to buy bottle of scotch

FLASHBACK: Last week's Star report

Not one, a number. Licences are not revoked as the result of a single error. This was a failure and a clear management issue.

One could draw the conclusion that the company's pledge to Harlow Council was not only a little over the top but a clear indication of their concerns over their ability to enforce adequate training. I know of no other store with such a punitive policy.

My mother did present adequate proof of both age

(in general terms) and identity, complete with a photograph. Clearly the checkout operative had not received adequate training and did not feel free to call a manager.

When I went in to complain the morning after the incident the person I spoke to merely said "It's policy". When I pressed her she then told me she would look into it without even the hint of an apology. An 'I'm so sorry, I will check it out for you' would have defused the situation nicely.

I am reminded of Douglas Bader's famous comment: "Rules are made for the guidance of the wise and the blind obedience of fools".

Would it have been beyond the capability of the checkout operator to verify matters with a manager? Would the manager have had the common sense to recognise the stupidity of the situation and the resulting confusion of an aged lady? Can we really believe that had the Harlow Council inspector been present they would have again revoked the company's liquor licence? The mind boggles.

So all you pensioners shopping in The Stow, if you need to top up your liquor supply take your birth certificate with you. Or do as my mother did and go across to the off licence just across the square where you will be very warmly welcomed and very professionally served.

worldwide financial crisis, armed conflicts small and large, poverty exacerbated by those armed conflicts; pressures on resources such as oil and water; providing food for the ever-growing population, pandemic diseases, international crime and terrorism, and the continued existence of thousands of nuclear weapons with the capacity to destroy the whole of civilisation in a flash.

The solution to all these problems needs co-operation at all levels, from the individual to the global. Sadly, there is little sign that this is generally recognised.

The European Union, with all its faults and flaws, is an attempt at co-operation to a limited extent at one of those levels. Its creation was inspired by a determination to put an end to the centuries of conflicts between the European powers.

The idea that Britain could go it alone in today's globalised economy, with the rise of the new superpowers China and India only the start, is just ludicrous.

A referendum on our membership of the European Union now or at any time in the foreseeable future would be a complete distraction from the very real problems listed above.

County Hall out of touch with Harlow

SIR, Having spent the last couple of Sundays talking to residents of Little Parndon, it is apparent that once again Essex County Council is not in touch with the needs of Harlow people.

There are significant issues with parking in the area. This, of course, is exacerbated by visitors to the hospital parking in local streets and ECC recently remarking parking restrictions without consulting local residents.

While I am not suggesting there are easy or single solutions to the problem, it would be refreshing if ECC would venture out of County Hall and look at the specific problems of Harlow. These may include partial pavement parking, residents-only parking, drop kerbs for residents, use of under used garage space and so on.

My point is that a specific study of the needs of Harlow and its residents need to be conducted, something that I know county councillor Tony Durcan has been pushing for. While parking is a specific issue in Little Parndon, it is not confined to the area.

Of course this is not the only example of the county council riding roughshod over the views of Harlow people. Another notable example is the proposal to site a waste transfer station within a 100 yards of the boundaries of Tanys Dell Primary School, despite the objections of local people, businesses and Harlow Council.

While it is going to be 2013 before Harlow people next get to choose their county council representatives, I sincerely hope that Conservative councillors come out of their comfortable homes and represent the whole population of the county – and that includes the hard-pressed people of Harlow.

Soccer kids not to blame for rubbish

SIR, As a former chairman, coach and now parent volunteer for the organisation currently using the London Road football pitches, may I take Sima Amin and correct some of her inaccuracies ("Football pitch left in a terrible state", October 27).

She states she sees rubbish left at the pitches every Saturday. What she doesn't see is the amount of rubbish we as coaches and parents pick up, including broken alcohol bottles, takeaway wrappers etc.

She also mentions the dog walkers who enjoy the area but doesn't state how enjoyable the dogs find the walk, defecating all over the area where children will be diving about. Believe me, picking up dog faeces is not how I want to spend my Saturday mornings.

She also doesn't mention our annual litter pick where we encourage all teams to participate in cleaning up their environment. Previous years have seen us collect skips-full of rubbish including used car tyres and bed mattresses. Now I know it can be hard to get children out of bed but I doubt they brought their mattress to training with them.

Ms Amin states she will be writing to the council to ask them to stop the training taking place if this behaviour continues. I would say the behaviour encouraged is that of a good responsible citizen.

However, she can always join the local charity responsible for the pitches. They have recently been supporting the Church Langley Residents Association in their litter picking efforts in and around the area concerned.

This would be a much more constructive step than denying 300 children the chance to let off steam in a safe, enjoyable and clean environment.

Thank you to our caring bus drivers

SIR, I am writing to you about a bus driver who should be praised for what he did for me last Thursday.

Shortly after 9am I got on a No.15 bus in Potter Street to go to the town centre. The bus driver was having difficulty opening the doors of the bus to let passengers get on.

He carried on his journey looking for somewhere safe to park the bus. He found a place on Tumbler Road on the opposite side of the road, but close to a bus stop so I could continue my journey.

After a while he was able to get the doors open and he helped me to get off the bus.

I have difficulty in getting on and off buses even with my stick. I am an OAP and listen to people moaning about some of the drivers. I have had a couple of problems myself but I can only speak as I find. Most of them are helpful and it is a very difficult job serving the public.

Thank you once again to the drivers who do a great job in these difficult times.

I want my say on Town Park plans

SIR, It was good to learn the Town Park is to have a revamp and the plans would be available to view at the Civic Centre, Pets' Corner, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, the Museum of Harlow and Leisurezone.

On Saturday I visited the Leisurezone specifically to view and comment on the proposals but the staff only had the basic leaflet inviting our views and opinions. No plans and no means to record our opinions.

Someone kindly informed me the library had the plans so I went there, only to find that the various proposals were too small to read at the low level they were placed.

I wonder if Harlow Council just want to make it look as though it consults the public but places obstacles to prevent us giving our view.

Would it not have been wiser to have given the plans to the Star to gain a good response?

Let's have a public debate on Europe

SIR, So yet again Robert Halfon fails to support democracy and reneges on some of his commitments regarding the EU made during his election campaign ("MP toes the line over EU poll vote", October 27).

Last Monday night he had the opportunity to vote for a referendum on the subject of the European Union, a referendum that polls show has majority support among the electorate.

Also the argument has been won that Britain should regain our independence by leaving the corrupt, undemocratic soviet-style EU. What did he do? He voted against the motion while some 109 MPs supported the Bill that would have given the British people the opportunity to correct more than 30 years of deceit by governments led by Ted Heath in the 1970s right up to the present Cameron-led sham.

I challenge Mr Halfon to a public debate on this issue that has become the single most important factor that affects our government both local and national.

Martin Harvey, chairman
UK Independence Party, Harlow
Middle Street, Nazeing

EU is a distraction from real problems

SIR, Once again we are treated to a diatribe from Mike Audritt, this time in response to a fairly innocuous question from Les Cohen to Robert Halfon, MP (Letters, October 27).

Does he ever recognise that there are pros and cons in most issues and that personal abuse does not help to throw light on them?

The human race is beset with an unprecedented range of problems, which could threaten its very existence – climate change,

Passmores years were my best yet

SIR, I am writing in response to the letter from C. Lomas regarding Educating Essex ("In my day behaviour like this wouldn't have been tolerated", October 27) who has judged Passmores based on this television programme alone.

Teachers all around the country deal with such behaviour as was shown on Educating Essex. However, the difference is that Passmores manages to handle it in such a way that both enforces the school rules and makes good television at the same time.

You have to understand that school life was filmed continuously for eight months and has been edited in a certain fashion to make good television. Would you really sit and watch a television programme for an hour that only showed young adults completing their maths work on Pythagoras and studying Shakespeare? The answer is clearly no because it is not entertaining and does not make good television.

Every school has children who do not follow the rules but these are only a handful in comparison to the 800-odd who do as they are told on a daily basis. Educating Essex was designed to show the truth; nobody played up to the cameras.

I am a former student myself and the programme is about my year group. Therefore I have the ability to come to an accurate judgement about the school. I can honestly say that my five years at Passmores are the best yet. The improvements made since Mr. Goddard became principle are astounding.

Passmores is not just a school; it is a family home.

Indeed times have changed and attitudes also, but you cannot compare school life in 2011 to that of the 1950s or 1960s.

Andreea Hardware (aged 16)
Great Brays, Harlow

SIR, In reference to the letter from C. Lomas about Passmores Academy, I would like to add my thoughts and comments.

The bad behaviour shown is by just a few; what isn't seen is the hard work being done by the other 890 pupils. Programme makers realise that seven hours of diligent pupils and excellent teaching doesn't make for good TV. What does shine through is that the head and his staff believe passionately in their students and the thought of casting them aside is not an option.

True, in my day we wouldn't have dared speak to teachers or adults in the way they do but the world has changed. I should think that most schools in the country have the same problems. Kids have changed but you only hear about the bad ones, not the thousands who are polite, well-mannered, work hard and achieve good things.

I have four grandchildren, all pupils at Passmores. One has left and is studying for A-levels after achieving excellent GCSE grades, the other three are still there and are doing brilliantly. Without exception they would wholeheartedly defend the school and its staff.

Yes, Mr Lomas, I can assure you Passmores does have a nice side, Channel 4 just chooses not to show it. The school got an "excellent" rating from Ofsted and has been granted academy status so they must be doing something right.

Joan Guyton
Waterhouse Moor, Harlow

SIR, I have followed each episode of Educating Essex with great interest and have only admiration for the teachers and staff of Passmores.

Times have changed and school is a very different place to my day also. I think C. Lomas needs to appreciate that society has changed and instead of blaming our schools we need to look at the parenting skill and the first four years of a child's life when discipline and boundaries should be taught by parents.

We must also remember that well-behaved polite kind pupils do not make good TV.

Cliff Howes
Old Harlow (full address supplied)

TV programmes reveals a sorry state of affairs

SIR, I couldn't agree more with the letter of C. Lomas about Educating Essex in last week's Star.

Seeing pupils using their mobile phones, fixing their make-up and chatting among themselves during a lesson spoke volumes for the state of our current education system.

Most disturbing was that the teachers were more concerned with being chummy with the pupils as opposed to gaining their respect by setting boundaries for their behaviour.

Even though the pupils paid no attention to the teachers and in one case confessed to not knowing what Pi was shortly before the GCSE maths exam, it came as no surprise to me that they all seemed to pass their exams with flying colours.

Educating Essex has at least exposed the level of dumbing down in our education system. Hopefully steps will be taken at Passmores and elsewhere to endeavour to redress this sorry state of affairs.

Bob Johnson
Wissants, Harlow

SIR, In reply to the letter from C. Lomas, he is quite right.

In both his day and mine we were brought up to respect parents and teachers. Unfortunately, a large number of today's children are not brought up in this way and I think the staff at Passmores deal with it very well.

My husband attended Hackney Downs School (formerly The Grocers' School) back in the 1940s and no way would it have had to be closed down due to failure because he and his peers were brought up to show respect.

I am afraid times have changed and not for the better. Discipline at home in many cases has been thrown out of the window.

Audrey Marlow
Copse Hill, Harlow

As the owner of a local coach business transporting schoolchildren day in and out from the local school run to tours of Europe, I can categorically state that Passmores pupils are polite, respectful to both teachers and drivers and are by far more grounded and fun to be with than a lot of other schools we transport.

I say well done Mr Goddard and your very caring team.

Helen Bowden
Galleon Travel, Epping Road, Nazeing

SIR, In response to the letter criticising Educating Essex and the methods used at Passmores Academy to deal with problem pupils, I too would like to say that in my day things were different.

Teachers hit pupils with pieces of wood, trainers, canes, the edge of rulers and with their bare hands. At one school I was caned for doing badly in a maths exam. I have no clear memory of any teacher taking a special interest in me or anyone else at any of my three schools.

I am amazed at the patience and professionalism displayed by the Passmores staff and the intelligence and ability of some of the problem pupils they struggle with, often successfully. Clearly some of the pupils have difficult personal circumstances to deal with and are worth listening to and helping if at all possible.

The older generation would do well to think carefully before criticising the way things are and the problems that teachers, social workers, police officers, probation officers and others are having to sort out because we bear some responsibility for the society in which we and the children live.

There may be more than one way to run a school but in my opinion Passmores deserves praise, not criticism. At least the older generation can take some credit for the difference between the schools "in my day" and Passmores.

A little more about Oliver!

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT may have been a pocket or two that was picked by Fagin and his band of urchins in Charles Dickens' classic story Oliver Twist, but it's the memories of Star readers that are ripe for picking here on the Nostalgia desk.

A couple of weeks ago we published a photograph of a production of the musical Oliver! which was staged at The Playhouse in 1977.

The picture sparked an immediate response from local councillor Ian Beckett, who had previously been in touch about the article we carried on Bushy Croft being named Harlow's friendliest neighbourhood "It would seem that your Nostalgia pages are starting to trace my life in Harlow," he wrote. "This time you carried a picture of some of the cast from the Playhouse production of Oliver! and whilst I'm pretty sure I'm not in that photo I was in the production playing one of the Artful Dodgers.

"We were all double cast because of the performing laws. The production ran for two weeks and we performed alternate nights.

"William Overton [who sent in the cast photograph we published] was Oliver and his Dodger was a young lad call Nick Chinnery who is standing immediately behind William in the photo. The other Oliver who I played opposite was Tom Hill."

Ian, who sent in photographic evidence of his moment in the spotlight (left), said he was 13 at the time of the production and remembers all the cast being in awe of Derek Banks – the actor playing Fagin.

"He was a master craftsman on the stage but also very funny and friendly off it," said Ian.

"To the best of my recollection there have been four local amateur productions of Oliver! in the 40-year history of Harlow Playhouse and I was in the first three – playing Dodger in the original of 1977, Noah Claypole in a mid-1980s production and one in 1999 playing Bill Sykes where I once again performed opposite Derek Banks reprising his role of Fagin."

Ian added: "As Oliver! has been such a pivotal production in the theatre's 40 years it was probably about time to say 'Please sir, can we have some more?' And lo and behold there's a production on this week!"

NOSTALGIA UPDATE: Sir Harry Secombe

LAST week we asked if anyone remembered the visit of the late Sir Harry Secombe to Harlow in 1987 for the filming of a religious television programme.

As always it didn't take long to get a response, but it seems that not only did we get the name of the programme wrong but also the venue!

One of the first to get in touch was Tony Bartels who was bale to shed more light on the occasion.

"I remember Harry in Harlow as I was involved," said Tony. "But the programme was Highway not Songs of Praise and the location was St John's Arts and Recreation Centre. I also think the episode went out in 1988, a year later than originally thought."

Tony added: "My role was to meet Harry at the bottom of the clock tower having abseiled down the side".

"I had been helping some friends repair the clock. At the time we had finished but I had to remove the minute hand so that we could put it back on during the show!"

Do you remember Sir Harry Secombe's visit to Harlow? Send your stories to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Appeal over kidnap thug's 'lenient' sentence

A MAN jailed for two years for kidnapping his former girlfriend and threatening to throw her under a train at Harlow Mill station may have his sentence increased.

The Court of Appeal is being asked to rule the sentence imposed on Joseph Mills (22) at Chelmsford Crown Court in September was unduly lenient.

Mills, of Bishop's Stortford, was convicted of kidnapping Sophie Johnson, of Hart Road, Harlow, and assaulting her causing actual bodily harm. He was given a further 15 months for attacking a different victim at a nightclub in St Albans.

Now the case has been referred to the Court of Appeal by the Attorney General. No date has been fixed for the hearing.

HEALTH CHECK

in partnership with the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust

Transforming the PAH approach to emergency care

REFORM of the NHS is high on the Government's list of priorities and the effects of the debt crisis are already having an impact on health services in Harlow.

The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust has been set a target of saving £39m over the next three years. The introduction of an ambitious transformation programme – which focuses on caring and safety – has already resulted in major improvements in the way it treats patients.

New ways of working mean that people are being seen quicker, getting better care and spending less time in hospital. And the changes are helping to safeguard the hospital's future by saving millions of pounds.

Many parts of the NHS say they are struggling to cope with rising demand, but medics at PAH say the new way of working is revolutionising the way it deals with urgent cases.

A system called 'ambulatory care' means that hundreds of patients who in the past would have been admitted to hospital can now go straight home after being treated.

The effect on the hospital has been dramatic.

For several months running, the trust has met the national target of seeing 95 per cent of all emergency patients within four hours. Hospital admissions have fallen and in August alone this saved more than £150,000.

The new ambulatory care team is seeing patients from all parts of the system, including casualty, GPs and community care.

Acute medicine consultant Dr Yvonne Barlow, who leads the project, said: "This is transforming our approach to emergency care just as day surgery did with routine operations 20 years ago.

"Our senior doctors are involved earlier so the right approach in each case can be decided quickly. Some patients don't need a bed but do need tests or treatment. This system allows them to go home.

"The need to admit is reduced and it becomes easier to run the hospital. Our patients are happier, too."

The hospital's medical teams have now identified 49 conditions where patients can be diagnosed, treated quickly and safely sent home. Follow-up care is arranged in the community or with a specialist so they don't need to return to hospital, freeing up more beds for routine cases which in turn means more patients are treated within the 18-week target period.

Other innovations on wards mean that patients who do need to be admitted are not having to stay as long.

Trust chief executive Melanie Walker said: "This is a period of massive change for our hospital. We want people to understand the real progress being made and how they can contribute."

Ease the pressure on A&E as staff prepare for winter challenges

WITH the onset of winter, the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust is asking people to help hospital staff cope with the added pressures that the change of season brings.

The hospital is currently on track to meet this year's national target of seeing 95 per cent of all A&E patients within four hours, a major improvement on previous performance.

But doctors say that in order to keep achieving this standard during the busy winter months, they need people only to come to A&E when they have a serious health need.

Medical director Dr Sandra Dimmock said: "The quality of care we are giving to our patients is improving all the time, but winter is always a challenge. People can help us by using the NHS wisely so we can concentrate on those who really need us."

Doctors are urging anyone who is eligible to get a flu jab. The elderly, those with a long-term condition, pregnant women and young children are all entitled to receive a flu jab from their GP.

Health workers are also a priority. Princess Alexandra Hospital aims to immunise at least 80 per cent of its 2,800 staff.

Trust chief executive Melanie Walker, who was the first to volunteer for the jab, said: "Using all the other NHS services to their full potential helps to ensure that we see only the sickest patients who really need the care and treatment we can give."

The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust has embarked on one of the biggest programmes of change in its history.

Building for Excellence aims to make the hospital one of the best in England by focussing on quality of care, patient safety and efficiency.

Senior doctors and nurses are being given a much bigger say in how the hospital is run to ensure that standards rise and performance targets are met. At the same time the trust, which has to save £17m this year because of changes in the NHS and the national economic position, says it is on track to make the savings while still protecting front line services.

This is being done by shedding around 250 non-clinical posts and cutting costs.

Because the hospital is working more efficiently, around 60 beds are being closed without affecting the service to patients.

A dear Husband and wonderful Dad and Grandad.

Another year has passed away, still love you and miss you every day.

It broke our hearts to lose you the day God called you home, part of us went with you, you never went alone. Remembering you is easy, we do it every day, missing you is the hardest part, as it never goes away.

If we could have a lifetime wish, a dream that could come true, we'd pray to God with all our hearts, for yesterday and you.

A thousand words can't bring you back, we know because we've tried, and neither can a thousand tears, we know because we've cried.

You left behind our broken hearts but happy memories too, we never wanted memories, we only wanted you.

Rest in peace Sweetheart.

Celebrate the lives of those you have lost

CHRISTMAS is a time for families, for fun and for celebrations. But for many it can also be a time of sadness as they remember loved ones they have lost.

This week St Clare Hospice, supported by the Star, launches its annual Light Up A Life events giving people the opportunity to celebrate and remember the lives of someone close to them.

They do this by dedicating lights which will be turned on at a series of special events taking place in the weeks leading up to Christmas Day. The first will be held in Loughton at the end of this month, followed by two at the Hastingwood hospice (December 3 and 7), Epping, Ongar, Waltham Abbey, Hatfield Heath and Dunmow.

The events themselves do not take the form of a religious service but are an opportunity to reflect and celebrate, with festive songs and poignant readings. Once the lights are illuminated they will remain shining until 12th Night.

Giles Wright, communications manager for St Clare, said: "Light Up A Life is about us giving something back to the community, a chance for people to come together at what can be a difficult time of year, to remember and celebrate the lives of loved ones together."

"It is not solely for people who have experienced hospice care or indeed lost someone in the hospice. It is open to anyone who has lost family, friends or people close to them."

He added: "It can be comforting to know a symbol of their life is glowing publicly and that, among the hustle and bustle of the festivities, they are not forgotten." One of those who attended one of last year's events at the hospice said: "I remembered the life of my grandad, John Towers. I found it a special occasion which gave me the opportunity to celebrate his life."

Space at all the events is limited and places must be booked in advance. Anyone wanting to attend should contact the hospice to register their interest, either by filling in the form on the left, by visiting the hospice website at www.stclarehospice.org.uk/lual or by calling (01279) 773750.

Yes, I would like to dedicate a light to remember a loved one.

The latest fashion craze for pampered pooches!

WACKY dog owners have gone barking mad for a new craze sweeping America – canine hairpieces and celebrity dog wigs.

Miami make-up artist Ruth Regina has ditched her bag of cosmetics and become a wig maker for pampered pooches.

Due to popular demand Ms Regina set up an online business – Wiggles Dog Wigs – and now sells dog hairpieces worldwide.

Her bestsellers are celebrity dog wigs, the most popular being Lady Ga Ga. She also sells Bob Marley and Sarah Palin hairpieces.

"I never expected it to be so popular but you can never underestimate how much people love dressing up their dogs," Ms Regina told reporters.

Although the dog wigs can cost a pretty penny at more than £30 an item, their popularity is catching on.

Ms Regina comes from eight generations of wig makers and has been making dog wigs for friends for about 20 years free of charge.

She explained: "More and more requests came in and eventually I decided to set up a separate business online.

"The website isn't very old but we get tons of requests from all over the world."

Crisis of identity in a Cold War thriller

By CHRIS MOSS

A TALE of spies, betrayal and double identity will thrill audiences at Victoria Hall Theatre next week.

Following their performance of knockabout Shakespeare spoof Farndale's Macbeth earlier this year, award-winning theatre company The Sawbridgeworth Players turn their hand to darker subject matter from Friday in the shape of Hugh Whitmore's celebrated Cold War thriller Pack Of Lies.

Set at the height of the stand-off between East and West, it tells the story of ostensibly innocuous couple Peter and Helen Kroger (played by Dan Thomas and Elizabeth Smith), who in reality are Soviet spies Morris and Lorna Cohen.

The play, directed by first-timer Beth Sanderson, follows their friendship with neighbours Bob and Barbara Jackson (Andrew Roberts and Sue Warren), which slowly falls apart as the Cohens' double-life unravels and a spycatcher (Peter Dodkin) closes in.

An eight-strong Players cast began rehearsals last month. Despite the play's period setting, Beth said she was taking a low-key approach to costumes and sets.

FACING THE TRUTH:

"We're going to make it simplistic; a lot of West End productions have a minimalist set and it works well though the cast have to work quite hard," she said.

"I've always been interested in spying and conspiracy theories, and I've seen Pack Of Lies a few times so it's something I've always wanted to do."

The show runs at the Bury Road theatre from Friday until Sunday. Doors open at 8pm and tickets costing £8 are available from www.sawbridgeworth-players.org.uk or by calling 07752 161802.

Youngsters are stars of ballet's 40th celebration

Review

Harlow Ballet Association
Harlow Playhouse Studio

If you were not in the Studio Theatre at the Playhouse on Saturday night or Sunday afternoon then I am sorry for you as you missed a treat.

Harlow Ballet Association presented their celebration of 40 at the Harlow Playhouse. This was the culmination of the autumn ballet course and contained, amongst other things, seven pieces of original choreography by young dancers who study with this company.

These seven pieces were part of a competition and, whilst it was difficult to praise one above the other, The Dance of the Nymphs choreographed by Nadia Jones at the ripe old age of 11 was head and shoulders above its fellows.

Nadia's piece was charming, controlled and delightful to watch and the presentation of the baby jellyfish bearing clear plastic umbrellas was as original as anything I have seen in many a long year and also managed to marry ancient Greek characters with a modern ecological message.

I must also mention Hero of War which combined a musical score and a subject that were equally difficult.

The second half started with a delightful romp to music from

LYDIA VENTRE

Oklahoma! which the children obviously thoroughly enjoyed as much as the audience.

Always Wear Blue was simple but very effective and I was most struck by the concentration and exactness of the smallest dancer.

We were then treated to delightful excerpts from The Sleeping Beauty and Pharaoh's Daughter finally finishing with No More Fairy Stories containing a plethora of tiny dancers and an effervescent Czech Polka in which the part of The Girl was danced by Lydia Ventre who had that morning discovered that she has been accepted by Laine Theatre Arts.

So congratulations must go both to her and to Harlow Ballet Association for nurturing her talents to this level.

No time to lose when the body clock starts ticking

JUSTIN TIME: Justin Timberlake stars as a factory worker who vows to fight corruption in IN TIME

IN TIME
certificate 12A, 1h49m

NEW Zealand-born screenwriter Andrew Niccol has consistently conjured dark clouds with his visions of life in the 21st century and beyond.

His debut feature Gattaca cast a chill with its depiction of a society determined by genetic superiority while The Truman Show took the concept of a reality TV series to chilling extremes.

For his latest film which he also directs, Niccol imagines an emotionally starved globe in which money has become obsolete and the currency is time.

People are engineered to age until they reach 25 years old, at which point a timer embedded in their arm begins to tick down second by second to their demise.

You can earn, steal or inherit more time to extend your life expectancy, leading to a vast divide between the haves and have-nots.

The wealthy are essentially immortal: forever 25 years old in physical appearance with centuries on their body clocks to squander at leisure. But the poor live from one day to the next, unsure if they will be able to claw back enough minutes to see another sunrise.

Will Salas (Justin Timberlake) lives in the ghetto with his mother (Olivia Wilde), making ends meet by working at a factory with his best friend Borel (Johnny Galecki). During a night out, Will has a chance encounter with handsome yet suicidal rich man Henry Hamilton (Matt Bomer).

Henry donates 100 years of his time to Will's body clock. Granted access to the most exclusive parts of the city, Will learns the truth about how Philippe Weis (Vincent Kartheiser) and the men in power manipulate the populace for their own gain.

Will vows to bring down the corrupt system, forging an unlikely alliance with Philippe's rebellious daughter Sylvia (Amanda Seyfried).

Meanwhile, time thief Fortis (Alex Pettyfer) and timekeeper Raymond Leon (Cillian Murphy) both hunt for Will, determined to take back the time that Henry gave away.

In Time is a neat concept, stylishly executed, with some well-orchestrated action sequences to paper over a few cracks in logic.

Timberlake is an appealing hero but Murphy brings depth to the hunter who takes his role very seriously and will not allow Will to upset the status quo, but Kartheiser and Pettyfer are two-dimensional villains.

Niccol's film holds our interest, building to a satisfying if improbable close that ensures we don't feel like we have wasted 109 minutes.

JOSH Kovacs (Ben Stiller) manages one of the most luxurious and tightly secured residences in the whole of New York City.

He has been in charge for more than 10 years and proudly takes care of his staff. However, one wrong decision threatens to ruin everything.

Josh entrusts the staff's pensions to venerated Wall Street titan Arthur Shaw (Alan Alda), who lives in the penthouse suite. It transpires that Arthur is a crook and he is placed under house arrest after he is caught stealing two billion dollars from his investors.

The staff's pensions are part of the missing money and convinced that the money must be hidden somewhere within Arthur's condo, Josh approaches petty criminal Slide (Eddie Murphy) to plot the perfect heist before the Wall Street magnate flees the country.

Although Josh and his team are amateurs, they have one vital advantage – they have lived or worked in the building for years and know every nook and cranny.

While Special Agent Claire Denham (Tea Leoni) keeps a close eye on Arthur, Josh and Slide initiate their daring scheme aided by Josh's brother-in-law and concierge Charlie (Casey Affleck), sassy housemaid Odessa (Gabourey Sidibe), lazy bellhop Dev'Reaux (Michael Pena) and squatter Chase Fitzhugh (Matthew Broderick).

Ivan asks Tintin to name his price for the boat but the reporter refuses to sell, sensing the wooden vessel is far more valuable than it first appears. Sure enough, a cryptic conundrum lies within, revealing that "only a true Haddock will discover the secret of The Unicorn." Assisted by trusty pooch Snowy, Tintin searches for more clues and meets booze-sodden Captain Haddock (Andy Serkis), whose family history holds the key to the mystery of a cursed shipwreck.

Contagion Two days after Beth Emhoff (Gwyneth Paltrow) returns from a business trip in Hong Kong she's dead – and the medics can't tell her husband Thomas (Matt Damon) how or why. But before long the virus that killed her is out of control and as panic spreads, scientists battle to control the global pandemic.

Monte Carlo Texan teenager Grace (Selena Gomez) is off to Paris with her best friend Emma (Katie Cassidy). But mum Pam (Andie McDowell) insists on sending Grace's grumpy stepsister Meg (Leighton Meester) to act as their chaperone. After a miserable start in Europe's most romantic city, their luck changes when Grace is mistaken for spoiled, multi-millionaire English heiress Cordelia Winthrop Scott. Quick as a flash, all three girls find themselves whisked off to Monte Carlo to live the high life.

Dolphin Tale When a young dolphin gets caught in a crab trap, introverted 11-year-old Sawyer Nelson (Nathan Gamble) rescues her. But the dolphin has severely damaged her tail. Taken to the Clearwater Marine Hospital run by Dr Clay Haskett (Harry Connick Jr), the prognosis is bleak. But Sawyer is not prepared to give up on his new friend so easily.

Paranormal Activity 3 The demonic origin of the paranormal activity is revealed in the third instalment of the phenomenally popular horror franchise.

Johnny English Reborn Rowan Atkinson's unlikely super-spy returns to cause more hilarious chaos in the world of espionage.

The Lion King (3D) Disney's Oscar-winning animated classic is still the most successful traditionally animated film in history. And now you can see it again in eye-popping 3D!

Deciding on Price (Part Two)

We know that house prices have rocketed over decades, and then declined slightly and they are now in the region of 9.5% below their 2007 peak. However, establishing an accurate asking price that will optimise your chances of selling at the highest likely price within a reasonable timescale is both an art and a science.

Estate agents' valuations can vary tremendously. Some agents attempt to win your instruction by flattering you with a high but unrealistic suggested asking price – beware! Some, due to inexperience or unfamiliarity with current buyer trends, haven't got a clue and get it plain wrong – which can cost you time and money. Some are more responsible and advise the right price from day one.

We take the pricing issue very seriously, and much consideration is involved before we recommend an asking price.

As a rule of thumb, ask two or three reputable agents to suggest the optimum market value and base your pricing decision on these valuations – if not your choice of agent. It is important that you quote the right price from day one and achieve or exceed it, rather than quoting a high price and then encouraging low offers. The wrong price attracts the wrong buyers (particularly in this market), and fewer suitable buyers view the property – thereby minimising the chance of receiving an offer in any event.

Ultimately the critical part is to select your estate agent on the strength of their service, reputation and marketing plan – not simply on their valuation or commission rate. After all – you're going to be working in partnership with them – so choose the agent you prefer!

If you are considering selling your property and would like a carefully considered and qualified view of the likely sale price of your property in the current market, then please feel free to contact us on 01279 444988.

Citroen's stylish new DS

By Matt Kimberley

CITROEN'S premium line-up is now complete with the forthcoming arrival of the DS5 – and just like the DS3 and DS4 it's quite the attention-grabber.

One thing the DS trio all have going for them is that they're very distinctive. The DS5 couldn't be mistaken for anything else and for some people that's a selling point in itself.

From some angles it is absolutely stunning but from others it doesn't look right at all. But that's easily brushed off in acknowledgement of it being a big, quirky French car.

So quirky, in fact, that half the switches that should be on the centre console or the doors are on the roof for that genuine 'cockpit' feel.

It's actually a really well designed layout once you've learned what all the symbols on the buttons mean.

The upholstery style is new and looks fantastic. Citroen has gone to town on making the DS5 stand out in as many ways as possible and the seats are a prime example of a job well done.

There's decent legroom in the back, but the car isn't as big on

FACT file

Citroen DS5 THP
200 DSport

DS5 range
£18,000-£25,000

Engine: 1.6-litre turbocharged petrol producing 197bhp
Transmission: 6-speed manual driving the front wheels
Performance: 0-62mph in 8.2 secs
Economy: 42.2mpg
CO₂ Rating: 155g/km

the inside as you might think, so three adults would be a bit cramped on the rear 60/40 split bench seat.

Boot space varies according to model choice. There's more room in the diesel and petrol models than there is in the hybrid version. The latter takes a hit because of the batteries and motor under the boot floor. Three trim levels will be on offer to begin with, and current Citroen owners might be familiar with the DSign, DStyle and DSport labels.

One point worth highlighting is that while the test car's distinctive 19-inch wheels looked great, the standard sets on some models are as small as 16-inch which spoils the dramatic looks.

The build quality is outstanding, though. The leather quality is remarkable, the dashboard materials all look and feel very upmarket and I didn't touch one thing during my time with the car that felt like it had been built down to a price. Impressive stuff.

Not only that, but Citroen is planning Maybach-style DS-specific showrooms, with special configuration salons for buyers to touch and see all the different trim options and colours. That's going above and beyond the norm and should be a major pull for buyers.

At launch the DS5 will be available with five powerplants and a choice of manual or automatic gearboxes. The excellent e-HDi 110 and HDi 160 diesels, which should make up the vast majority of sales, are joined by THP 155 and THP 200 petrol engines.

The 200 is actually more fuel-efficient and costs less to tax than the 155, so drivers in the anticipated five per cent who'll choose a petrol DS5 should think carefully.

The fifth power option is the Hybrid4 system that has already debuted in the Peugeot 3008. Combining the HDi 160 diesel engine driving the front wheels with an electric motor driving the rears, it's designed to give impressive fuel economy gains over and above a normal diesel model.

There's a dedicated driving mode for zero-emission urban driving using the electric motor only. In the real world, the DS5 is heavy enough to make it difficult to keep on the motor alone using the default 'Auto' driving mode, so it's good to keep the electric-only ZEV (Zero Emissions Vehicle) mode activated in town as much as possible.

What's really striking about the DS5 is just how easy it is to get on with, whether it's in town or on a mountain pass. It's an incredibly friendly, forgiving driving experience and with huge reserves of grip it's also an accomplished performer on the twisty bits.

Where I have reservations about its drive is the ride quality. On largely smooth Cote D'Azur roads the DS5 was well controlled, stable and stayed relatively flat around corners. But on the odd rough patch, more typical of UK roads, it did seem to have a lot of suspension noise and jolts through the cabin.

Time – and a domestic test – will tell whether it's an issue.

On the whole, though, the DS5 is a very encouraging prospect. It's likely to offer a lot of ownership satisfaction and it's definitely a stylish alternative to premium German cars.

Once the new DS salons arrive it should be a remarkable buying experience considering the price.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

A powerful alliance is shaping up in your situation Taurus. Working closely together can see you spur one another along. Call for your love scope in full...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

You can also be very persuasive this week, but also see your ideas and outlook transformed through conversations with others and hearing their viewpoints. Gemini May 22-Jun 21

As your ruler Mercury and Venus move into your opposite sign, there is an excellent chance to forge better relationships at lots of different levels. Part of this requires you to see things in a more detached way, another to show that you're prepared to compromise in order to create a more harmonious situation. Call your prediction line for more advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Something can be said which can prove invaluable - even if it's not immediately obvious. Yet this may require you to make a big choice. Decisions, decisions! Call for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

You are sparkling brightly, and other people can be drawn to you, but it's not going to be one way traffic as you'll be more than happy to reach out to do your bit to help them. Someone can also pitch in and help you with a new hobby. Anything which involves careful, exacting attention to appeal to you Cancer. Call now for more astral advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

You're in the process of laying some solid foundations. If it doesn't seem like this, step back and review your situation. All this may be requiring change, and that is not something that we always find easy to embrace. By the end of this week, things will make more sense, and you'll be back to feeling your radiant best. Call me now for more news...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

Discreet talks can prove encouraging for your work prospects, and someone may even put a good word in for you behind the scenes. Friendships generally enter a wonderful phase of the year. Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

Your creativity is really high, and this can see you busy with an arts and crafts hobby, or looking to buy some new home furnishings. A family reunion or gathering is also possible. Your home can be the base for this or see you invite close friends around for an evening. Travel and overseas interest can be fortunate. Call for more news and advice...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

You'll have a gift for predicting all sorts of trends, be it fashion, music or in business. However, if you have been in a rut you have a wonderful opportunity to break free, but you need to be bold. Love can be linked to someone from a different age group you may even meet through work. Diplomacy is vital. Call now for more news...

Time to four-get last week's defeat

THE scoreline failed to reflect a hard-fought match at Romford on Saturday.

Changes were made from the Harlow side that lost to Havering II the week before.

Stuart Kirk led the forward line and Rhys Mace came up from the second team to make his league debut for the first team on the wing.

Harlow went ahead against the run of play on 11 minutes. Ali Castle's hit from a dead ball situation picked out Craig Cholerton on the halfway line. Cholerton then slipped away from Romford's midfield and around two defenders before slotting the ball into the bottom right hand corner.

Romford lost patience and discipline and after 20 minutes went down to 10 when a home defender was shown a yellow card for persistent dissent.

Harlow controlled the midfield with the extra man and extended their lead on the half-hour mark. James Smith's through ball found Cholerton, who rounded the oncoming keeper and slotted the ball into an open goal. Harlow led 2-0 at half-time.

Romford went down to 10 after another caution for dissent.

Harlow exploited this and went 3-0 up on 45 minutes.

Cholerton's shot was deflected in at close range by the hard-working Kirk.

Romford chased the game and this led to big gaps in midfield and with the last touch of the game Harlow made it 4-0.

Smith slid the ball to Joe Symonds who had time to pick his spot. He casually flicked the ball just inside a post for his first goal of the season.

Ladies have six appeal!

Harlow Ladies 6, Wapping III 1

Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

A HAT-trick from captain Carolyn Welsford and a player-of-the-match performance from Claire Attack helped Harlow Ladies continue their superb home form.

After notching another six goals Harlow took their home tally to 28 in just four games.

But Harlow remain third in the premier division as East London and Maldon & Little Baddow also continued their fine starts to the season.

Wapping started well and scored from a penalty corner after 14 minutes, a fine strike finding its way inside the left post.

The hosts regrouped, utilising wingers Attack and Charlotte Byers to create space in the middle.

Attack levelled the score on 23 minutes. Her fine shot into the roof of the net gave the Wapping keeper no chance.

When the keeper pulled off an outstanding save low to her left with her foot to deny Attack three minutes later, it was clear that the tide had turned and the pressure was now with the home side going into the break.

The second half was mainly one-way traffic.

Welsford gave Harlow the lead on 40 minutes, an excellent strike low into the corner of the goal from the top of the circle.

Midfielder Emma Tweddle scored a similar goal from the top of the D just four minutes later.

Welsford put the game beyond doubt after 51 minutes with a low shot from the spot after a quick one-two with Sonya Amos.

Becks Dolan and Sue Douglas gave Wapping a hard time on the right and their pressure paid off as they combined for Welsford to shoot from the top of the circle.

Byers was on hand to deflect the powerful shot past the keeper's near post with 10 minutes left.

Attack, a constant thorn in Wapping's side all game, saw a shot beat the keeper but was superbly cleared off the line by the Wapping right-back.

There was still time for Welsford's hat-trick and on 65 minutes her run to the left of the goal went unchallenged allowing her to slot in from close range.

HARLOW: Rowley, Shearman, Trimble, Douglas, Spencer, Welsford, Tweddle, Dolan, Byers, Amos, Attack.

Second best for Alfie

HARLOW schoolboy Alfie Poole, above, came second in the U-11 boys 2.1km race in the second round of the Essex Cross Country League.

The 10-year-old from Water Lane Primary School clocked a time of 7 minutes and 45 seconds at Gloucester Park in Basildon. He finished just 10 seconds behind the winner from Chelmsford.

Alfie was followed home by Harlow Athletic Club runners Lewis Powell (10th, 8:46) and George Harris (11th, 8:48).

In the U-11 girls 2.1km race, Harlow's Lauren Barker came 11th in 9:35 and was followed home by Katie Woodstock (13th, 9:43) and debutant Jade Quinn-Berry (16th, 9:50).

Harlow were 4th out of 10 clubs in the U-13 boys 3.8km race.

Lewis Harknett was the first Harlow finisher, coming 10th in 16:04.

Other Harlow AC results (U-13 boys): Sam Quelch 21st, 17:35; Christian Barker 23rd, 17:48; Jamie Rushworth 24th, 17:59; Owen Harknett 33rd, 19:26; Harry Prentice 36th, 19:58.

Red cards mar thrilling cup match

TWO players were sent off as Harlow Hawks suffered a narrow defeat to close rivals Ware Jokers.

A fracas between a Jokers player and Hawks' Simon Atkinson resulted in both being sent off. They can expect at least a one-match ban.

Nick Moss and Simon Atkinson provided most of the offence adding 8 and 6 points respectively in the early stages for hosts Harlow.

Good inside play from Luke Atkinson kept the Hawks in front at the end of the first period (20-16).

Player-coach Shab Niaz kept the scoreboard ticking over early on, but the visitors hit back and led 34-31 at half-time.

Niaz started the second half with hot hands as he scored 10 points, draining two pressure shots from beyond the arc.

But the Jokers continued to notch points and were 57-48 ahead heading into the fourth quarter.

A hamstring injury to Moss left the Hawks with seven players for the final push.

Luke Atkinson and Shab Niaz sparked a Hawks' fightback.

However, poor decisions in the final quarter combined with missed shots and a strong finish by Ware, who scored 11 unanswered points, secured a 76-60 win for the hosts.

Hawks coach Niaz remained upbeat: "Over the last few weeks our performances have improved and I'm pleased with the progress that we are making as a team; all the players are contributing which is very good for us."

"We now have a couple of tough league fixtures and if we carry on with the momentum of play of recent games we have a good chance of pulling off the required wins."

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (22pts), Allan (9pts), L. Atkinson (9pts), Moss (8pts), S. Atkinson (6pts), Spashett (2pts), Z. Niaz (2pts), Jackson (2pts), Taffe-Atkins.

Trio called up for Norwich City U-16 team

THREE youngsters from the Harlow-based Norwich City Academy played for the Canaries' U-16 team which took on counterparts Kings Lynn in a friendly at the Premier League side's training ground at Hethersett.

Central defenders Alex Walker and Matthew Agapiou, plus midfielder Frankie Lane appeared in Friday's match after impressing at the new Norwich base at Passmore School in Traces Road.

Norwich City goalkeeping coach Jeff Wood, who has been helping to set up the Harlow base, said: "Alex is a big lad, is strong and can pass the ball well. Frankie was released by Tottenham six months ago and lost enthusiasm for the game but he has come back. He is a proper player."

"Matthew is very strong and looks to get the ball from the keeper and play."

Another product from the Harlow academy is central midfielder Zach Birse and he scored in a match for the Norwich City Academy U-13 side. They won 5-2 against Peterborough.

Wood said: "He is very good with both feet and passes well."

Pen and stink

Spot-on Ambers shoot down stop-start Hawks

By ALASDAIR GOLD
alasdaire.gold@hertssexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town were given an FA Trophy headache after suffering a disappointing defeat to neighbours Cheshunt just seven days after their impressive victory over Concord Rangers.

After a dour first half, the Ambers produced an excellent second-half display to claim the bragging rights and badly dent the visitors' hopes.

Ryman League division one north promotion hopes. After conceding a glut of goals in recent matches – including an 8-1 thrashing against Needham Market – Glen Parry's men were back to their solid best and silenced a Harlow side with grand ambitions for almost the entire match.

In a goalless first half, the only highlights were a soft Josh Hutchinson shot from a tight angle for the hosts and Danny Brown's shot which tested Ambers keeper Joe Wright from distance.

But there was drama early in the second half when the hosts went in front on 50 minutes from the penalty spot. Kevin Ashwood was bundled over in the box while trying to get on the end of

CRUNCHING TACKLE: Hawks winger Luke Marshall tries to thwart Cheshunt's Sam Byles (HSP0780432)

Anthony McDonald's free-kick and Hutchinson netted from the spot.

Barring a Luke Marshall sliding miss at the back post, the half was all Cheshunt. They almost extended their lead when Hutchinson rounded Harlow keeper Bertram Bossu, but his shot rolled across the face of the open goal.

On 61 minutes, Ashwood's shot from edge of box was pushed out by Bossu and McDonald poked over the rebound from close range under pressure.

Ashwood's shot from distance was gathered at the second attempt by the keeper, before Matt Thomson sent a curling shot just past the post.

The game was put to bed on 88 minutes when Cheshunt were awarded another penalty as Bossu came out to claim a cross, but the big keeper flapped his arms, completely missed it and ended up punching Ashwood in mid-air instead of the ball.

He blocked Hutchinson's resultant spot-kick, but the attacker smashed home the rebound.

The assistant referee raised his flag because he thought Bossu had NOT saved it and that Hutchinson had got the next touch (a player is not allowed to take consecutive touches of the ball when taking a penalty), but the goal was awarded after a consultation between the two officials.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "It was a massive disappointment. The first penalty was questionable. There was a bit of shoving and pushing [which happened] all game."

"We deserved what we got which was nothing. After the previous three games we went in with high expectations. The way we performed was not acceptable."

HARLOW TN: Bossu 4, Bruno 4, Brown 5, Gledhill 4, Kirby 4, Kilapi 4 (Maxwell 81), Marshall 6, Lalite 4, Wixon 4, Bunn 4 (Peagram 51, 5), Deane 4 (Taylor 65). Subs not used: Haverson, Wheeler. Att: 191.

Rams put Holt hiding behind them

THE Rams bounced back from their heavy loss at leaders Holt with a home win over Wymondham, but it was much closer than it should have been.

The hosts scored six tries while Wymondham scored just three, but the Norfolk side were partly kept in contention by Harlow giving away penalties, five of which were kicked for an extra 15 points.

Harlow captain Shaun Roberts told the Star: "It was good to bounce back and we got a bonus point [for scoring at least four tries] and have closed the gap on Holt, but leagues are not just decided on the first six or seven games."

"It should have been more comfortable, but we gave away penalties and a lot [of the penalties were given away] when players got isolated [and did not release the ball]. Their kicker was a standard you do not often get at this level."

The Rams started well and scored two tries on seven and 14 minutes. Michael Dobson touched down before prop Danny Stonehouse powered his way over for a second score.

Dobson converted both and Harlow led 14-0.

Wymondham hit back with an unconverted try after the ball was moved out wide, before Harlow's irrepressible scrum-half and senior coach Lee Harron made a solo break to touch down.

The Norfolk side scored penalties on 25 and 28 minutes, but slick home play set up full-back Rob Mackie for a 32nd-minute try under the posts.

Dobson kicked the conversion and Harlow led 26-11, but this was cut to 26-19 at the break after a visitors' penalty and an excellent try.

Roberts said: "We started very well, but we sat back. However, credit should go to them for the way they came back at us."

"They punished us for every mistake we made."

Wymondham's fightback continued with a converted 45th-minute try and then a 50th-minute penalty as they went 29-26 ahead.

Simon Vanbeck ran in a 59th-minute try to put the Rams back in front, before the visitors replied through a long-range penalty on 65 minutes.

However, good work from the home pack resulted in Harron scoring an unconverted try and the Rams held off late pressure to win by four points.

Roberts added: "Darren Hawkins played really well in the back row for us and he carried the ball and was very good in defence."

HARLOW: Mackie, Kotze, Vanbeck, Heapy, Grimley (Hills), Dobson, Harron, Roze (Cunningham 28), Mallia (Wilkins 50), Stonehouse, Twiner, Palmer, Roberts, Hawkins, M. Bowering.

Chapman eyes an upset

midfielder Leon Lalite has also been been laid low with a bug.

Chapman expects them to be okay, but wingers Luke Marshall (tendonitis) and Michael Deane (ankle injury) are rated at 50/50.

The Hawks boss is pleased with his new midfield signing James Fraser, from Ryman premier side Harrow Borough. "He has been training for us for weeks and we have had problems getting him de-registered from Harrow Borough," he said.

"In the 10 or 12 minutes he had against Heybridge Swifts he showed good energy. It's good to have him on board."

Right-back Donny Barnard has re-signed for Harlow from AFC Hornchurch after leaving the Hawks earlier this season.

Chapman said: "I'm very pleased to have him. He has a lot of quality."

Number two keeper Michael Dumoulin (work commitments) has quit and Chapman hopes to bring in Anthony Tucker whose switch to Brentwood has not worked out.

Chapman said: "Anthony got injured and he has got to get fit. He will also give competition for Bertrand."

Chapman is looking for another forward but has not made moves for any players yet.

"I need someone that can get behind defenders. Piers [Wixon] and James [Bunn] are set-up players."

Town hit back for cup win

time, immediately pointed to the spot and Ashley Hawkins converted the penalty.

On the half-hour mark, Wixon set up Gietro Kilapi, but his shot was stopped by Willis. James Bunn pounced on the rebound, but his shot was blocked on the line by a defender.

Taylor then scored what turned out to be the winner on 47 minutes when his free-kick from the left wrong-footed Willis and went into the far corner.

Both sides had their moments and Harlow were indebted to keeper Bertrand Bossu on 89 minutes during an edgy period for the hosts.

Bossu, who had made two good tip-over saves in the first half, brilliantly blocked a goal-bound effort from Michael Marsh.

Hammers launch new soccer school

FOOTBALL keen youngsters turned out in force at an open day to launch a new satellite centre for West Ham United FC in Harlow.

Interest is high and 130 children attended an open day run by the nPower Championship side at Passmores School last Wednesday.

Technical Soccer Coaching (TSC) will now run sessions every Monday at Passmores School on behalf of the Hammers.

West Ham will also operate a Centre of Excellence every Wednesday at the Tracys Road secondary school.

The project is the vision of Ian Yuill, who is the technical coach at the West Ham United Academy.

He said: "After England's poor performance in the 2010 World Cup, I decided I wanted to break the mould of the traditional coaching style in the UK.

"I wanted to ensure that all children can use both feet and all parts of their feet, and become technically competent."

He added: "A year on, we have various centres in East London and Essex, and you can see how much the children have improved."

TSC, in association with West Ham United FC, is keen to develop boys and girls from ages 5 to 16 and for all abilities.

Youngsters have a chance to progress to the Hammers Academy based at Chadwell Heath in Essex and ultimately to the first team. They will concentrate on several key areas: ball manipulation, first touch, speed and mobility, receiving, passing decision-making, attacking and defending techniques, goal-scoring and finishing and group-combination play.

Yuill is committed to teaching children good technique from a young age.

"Team systems and game play are important. However, they are only as good as the individual players involved in them.

He continued: "For too long, poor control or inaccurate passing and shooting has been masked by the importance of "winning at all costs" rather than on the fundamentals of player development.

"We believe that individual technique and small group skills in attack and defence are vital and ultimately determine a team's success."

The monthly cost of attending the course is £30.

Police probe player assault

THE Metropolitan Police is investigating an allegation of assault on Upper Clapton rugby player Ben Hester.

The 19-year-old former Passmore School student, who lives in Waterhouse Moor in Harlow, was allegedly punched in an off-the-ball incident.

He suffered a broken jaw but did not realise and carried on playing for nearly half an hour before the pain became unbearable.

Contrary to a report submitted by Upper Clapton Rugby Club and published in the Star last week, Hester was NOT sent off but was the victim of an allegedly unprovoked attack.

Hosts Old Cooperians went on to win the match 39-12 despite ending with 14 players.

This week, Clapton lost 36-12 at home to Billericay in Essex division one.

Andrew Goldsmith opened the scoring for the visitors with a try early on.

Clapton hit back and pacy winger Lewis Burke intercepted a loose pass and ran through the Billericay defence to score. Ross Stalley converted.

Ten minutes before half-time the Billericay number eight and captain Jason Hardy scored from a catch and drive at a line-out near the home 22.

Hawks quash boss axe slur

HAWKS co-owner Tom Cunningham has dismissed claims that the club is looking for a new manager.

Rumours over the weekend and earlier this week had claimed that manager Danny Chapman's job was not safe.

However, Cunningham told the Star: "There has never been a discussion about it. I have not had it in my head."

"Danny Chapman said on Monday that he had two or three players call him. It has been concocted. It's Chinese whispers."

Although there were changes to the squad that qualified for the play-offs in Ryman League division one north at the end of last season, this campaign has been inconsistent.

The team are languishing in 10th.

Cunningham said: "Up until the Leiston game [a 4-1 win on October 15], we had not played well enough at home or away."

"Then we played very well for three games before the Cheshunt game [a 2-0 defeat on Saturday]. Our performance against Cheshunt was not good enough."

Cunningham added: "Danny has been proactive. He has changed things [players and formations]."

Harlow suffered managerial instability in the 18-month period before Chapman took over as caretaker manager in late January 2011. There had been three bosses.

Rookie managers Anthony Anstead and Marvin Samuel had come and gone through the revolving doors.

Kevin Warren took over and the club enjoyed a good run in the FA Trophy before work pressures forced him out of the hot seat and into a Director of Football role at Harlow Town.

A relaxed Chapman shrugged off the rumours surrounding his position.

"That happens at all football clubs. It's part and parcel of it. People rang me up yesterday [Monday] and said they have heard rumours 'you are getting the sack,'" he said.

"I found it quite amusing. Me and Tom Cunningham had a laugh and joke about it. There's no truth to it."

He added: "This is a fantastic club and a lot of managers would like to be in this position, but I am not taking anything for granted."

"I have the backing of others and that's all I am concerned with. People can think all they want to. It's rumours. I want to do well, but there are more important things in life than worrying about things like that."

Chapman knows his team should be doing better but added: "We still got to the play-offs last year after being 13th."

Chapman eyes an upset

VICTORY and not revenge is the main motive for Danny Chapman when his Harlow Town side host Lewes in the second qualifying round of the FA Trophy this Saturday. Lewes, then in the Blue Square South, knocked the Hawks out of the FA Cup when they beat them 2-0 in the second qualifying round last season.

Subsequently, the East Sussex club were relegated and they are now third in the Ryman League premier division. This is one step above

Hawks in the non-League pyramid. Chapman said: "Lack of concentration cost us against Lewes in the FA Cup [last season]. It would be nice to win but not to get revenge for what happened last year. "It's obviously a big game and I'm looking forward to it. It would be good to get a bit of money [£3,000 prize money] for the club." Assessing his side's chances, Chapman said: "We have no reason to be scared. If we show the same work ethic as [against Heybridge on Tuesday] and show a bit more quality, there is no reason why we cannot cause an upset."

"We want to go and win it. We have fantastic support but we need more. It would be nice to get in 300-400." Left-back Danny Brown (virus) was forced off early on Tuesday and >>Continued on page 82

Harlow started brightly and a clever Piers Wixon chip was flicked away by Heybridge's keeper Jason Willis on five minutes.

The home side went ahead on eight minutes. Mark Taylor's whipped-in free-kick from the left was met by the head of skipper Danny Brown at the near post. His effort went across goal into the far corner.

The visitors equalised on 16 minutes after Tom Broadhurst was upended by Jack Haverson just inside the box.
